NATIVE AMERICAN ASSOCIATION.

Preamble and Constitution of the Native American Association of the United States.

Whereas it is an admitted fact that all Government are not only capable, but bound by all the principles of national preservation, to govern their affairs by the agen-cy of their own citizens, and we believe the republican form of our Government to be an object of fear and dislike to the advocates of monarchy in Europe, and for that reason, if for none other, in order to preserve our institureason, if for none other, in order to preserve our institu-tions pure and unpolluted, we are imperatively called up-en to administer our peculiar system free of all foreign influence and interference. By admitting the stranger indiscriminately to the exercise of those high attributes which constitute the rights of the native born American edition, we weaken the attachment of the native, and gain naught but the sordid allegiance of the foreigner. The rights of the American, which he holds under the Consti-tution of the Revolution, and exercised by him as the glotution of the Revolution, and exercised by him as the glorious prerogative of his birth, are calculated to stimulate to action, condense to strength, and cement in sentiment and patriotic sympathy.

Basing, then, the right and duty to confederate on these high truths, we profess no other object than the promotion of our native country in all the walks of private honor, public credit, and national independence; and therefore we maintain the right, in its most extended form, of the native born American, and he only, to exercise the various duties incident to the ramifications of the laws, exeous duties incident to the ramifications of the laws, executive, legislative, or ministerial, from the highest to the lowest post of the Government; and to obtain this great end, we shall advocate the entire repeal of the naturalization, we shall advocate the entire repeal of the naturalization. end, we shall advocate the entire repeal of the naturaliza-tion law by Congress. Aware that the Constitution for-bids, and even if it did not, we have no wish to establish, bids, and even if it did not, we have no wish to establish, ex post facto laws; the action we seek with regard to the laws of naturalization, is intended to act in a prospective character. We shall advocate equal liberty to all who were born equally free; to be so born, constitutes, when connected with moral qualities, in our minds, the aristocracy of human nature. Acting under these generic principles we further held that to be a permanent people, we Religiously entertaining these sentiments, we as so-lemnty believe that the day has arrived, when the Ameri-cans should unite as brothers to sustain the strength and purity of their political institutions. We have reached that critical period foreseen and prophesied by some of the clear sighted apostles of freedom, when danger threatens from every ship that floats on the ocean to our shores; when every wind that blows wafts the ragged paupers to our cities, bearing in their own persons and characters the elements of degradation and disorder. To prevent these evils, we are now called upon to unite our energies. To fight over this great moral revolution, the shadow of Religiously entertaining these sentiments, we as sothese evils, we are now called upon to unite our energies. To fight over this great moral revolution, the shadow of our first revolt of glory, will be the duty of the sons of those wars, and we must go into the combat determined to abide by our country; to preserve her honor free from contagion, and her character, as a separate people, high and above the engraftment of monarchical despotisms.

ARTICLES OF THE CONSTITUTION. ARTICLES OF THE CONSTITUTION.

First. We bind ourselves to co-operate, by all lawfu means, with our fellow native citizens in the United States to procure a repeal of the naturalization law.

GERMANTOWN, APRIL 30, 1838.

Dr. Jayne: My Dear Sir: It gives me pleasure to communicate in this manner, my favorable opinion of your Carminative Balsam. For two years it has been in almost constant use in my family. It was thus introluced: A child of five years old had been sick some five or six days with the dysentery. Calomel and other inedictines had been largely administered, but without the least apparent benefit. The peculiar discharges from the bowels were unchanged in both character and frequency; the strength of the little patient could not hold out much longer. At this juncture, I was reminded by a GERMANTOWN, APRIL 30, 1838. out much longer. At this juncture, I was reminded by a friend of your Balsam. After a portion of castor oil, it was administered several times through the night. In the morning, the physician found the discharges essentially changed; the disease was checked, nay, removed; all other medicines were discontinued, and the child was soon restored to usual health. We have ever since kept this invaluable medicine on hand, and for both adults and children have found it uniformly efficacious. We readily children have found it uniformly efficacious. I MPROVED SURGEON'S TRUSSES, for the radical cure of Hernia, or Rupture, by HEBER CHASE, M. D., Philadelphia.

The committee of the Philadelphia Medical Society, or the investigation of the radical cure of Hernia, ob-

"Fully impressed with the extreme caution required n forming conclusions concerning changes of structure taking place in parts of the body concealed, not only by the integrments, but by tendinous matter and fascia, and where the nature of the disease renders the opportunity f post mortem examination exceedingly rare, your comnittee has been desirous to avoid that blameable haste in the decision of important questions which has too frequently given to plausible but ingenious methods of treatquently given to plausible but ingenious methods of treat-anent a temporary reputation, to the abuse of public coafidence and the injury of the profession, by granting to empiricism the weight and influence of great names.

"The instruments of Dr. Chase have effected the per-manent and accurate retention of the intestines in every case of hernia observed by the committee, without mateial inconvenience to the patient, and often under trials more severe than are usually ventured upon by those who wear other trusses—trials which would be imprudent with any other apparatus known to the committee

"The committee are induced, by the foregoing conclusions, to recommend, in strong terms, the instruments of Dr Chase to the confidence of the profession, as the best known means of mechanical retention in hernia, and as furnishing the highest chances of radical cure.

"They have no hesitation in saying that, were they individually affected with this terrible disease, they would resort to this method of treatment, with the triple view of securing their comfort, safety, and ultimate chance of
